I am not aware whether the had of Hongkong takes the same view regarding reakless riding or triving through the streets as that of our own country, but certain it is in Rogland that the people who indulge in this pastime are habled up pretty sharply by the police and dealt with by the magistrates in a sufficiently summary manner. How often do we read in the Lundon Police reports of Butcher boys, drunken cabmen, publicans, and coatermongers being fined or committed in default for eccentricities of this sort, and surely it is time even in Hongkong to put a stop to vagaries which endanger lives. In England it is a misdemeanour to break the ranks of Her Majesty's troops marching on the Queen's highway, hat there of course gentlem a tinvar think of doing this sort of thing, por are they in habit of foreing the dangerous proximity of their corriage wheels. Before the Hon. J. C. WHYER, Esq. J. D. ELLI- v C. VALERIO, $319.25. Value of operty list through the negligence of defennt and who is the license holder of the Risian

Mr. Sharp appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. azeland for the defendant. This was a claim prising out of a robbers by rest quolies of defendant's clothing. The case as dealt with crimically some time since at the agistracy; (and reported) two coolies having en convicted and sentenced to imprisonment for e unlawful possession of a part of the said othing. The plaintiff now alleged that he was oing to lodge at the Bising Sun, and when arved at the door with his luggage, the defendant he had charge of the place, told him to go to resklost, and he (defendant) would look after is luggage. The plaintiff obgred the wish of efendant, whilst the latter ordered the coolies to ike the luggage round to the side door. Plainff herer saw his lugginge again, as the coolies stead of taking it to the side door carried it war and stole it. The plaintiff deposed that it as at the Resing Sun he had engaged to stay. hat he took his menis in that house. That he ad not anything to do with Julian's boarding ouse: and that the defendant bad taken charge f the luggage when he had sent him upstairs to Samuel A Moss third mate of the Helen of loring depoked to having necompanied the plainiff to the Rising Sun, and to having heard the afendant tell the plaintiff to go upstairs and get . is breakfast; and he would look after his luggage. the Defendant denied liaving taken charge of the uggage. He had told the plaintiff to see his uggage taken round to the side door himself. is did not keep a hearding house, but allowed ome of Julian's boarders to take their meals in his louse. There was a communication between the Sising Sar and Julian's private house, and a comnunication between Julian's private house and is licensed boarding house, but the Rising Sun. nd Julian's boarding house were two distinct coneres. He had never received any money from laintiff for board. He had reclaved money from im for drinks. He had not been paid for the prackings the plaintiff had taken in his hours the norning the higgage was stulen. There were seren or eight persons who had breakfast that mornng ups airs in bis bouse, but they were Julian's ooardere: == V. Julian deposed that the plaintiff was to have icen his hoorder. That he came when both he witnes-) and his manager were absent; and that to did not know ungthing of the loss of the lugroge. His licensed sailor's boarding house bad to unnection with the Bising Sus. A Chinese hon intergence. Part of his house was over the Bising Sun. Andrew Rickien a good natured and intelligent Swede deposed to being present when the plaintiff reived at Julian's, Julian's was the Rising Sun. He heard Valerio tull plaintiff to take his things round to the side door. He know the witness Moss. He was not wish plaintiff when the latter strived with his laggage. He knew the Rising Sun it belonged to Julian. He knew the public bearding house, the private boarding house, and Julian's private room. There was a way upstairs from the Rising Sun to get to the boarding house. He could describe the whole promises. The lobby was on the souf, the front door round at the side and all the stortes were upstairs. Henry Keen a steward (memployed) deposed bearing the plaintiff tell Julien that for $100 or. $150 be would not take the matter into Court. That was all he knew of the matter.

During the hearing Mr. Sharp put several questions to Valerio and Julian, as to the communication between the Riving Sun and the licensed entlor's boarding house, which Mr. Hazeinad objected to, on the ground that sither of those persons might prejudice himself by answering-the Ordinance regarding lioenses being very stringent. His Honour soid that although he sustained the objection, he still thought that upon the evidence it was clear that the two bouses were connected. At all events the case showed that an inepection of the promises was necessary. Mr. sharp submitted that the defendant as a thern kaener wie liable for the loss by theft of the property of his guests-even if a guest had only taken a glass of ale in the house, the landlord y making a profit on the sale, rendered himself Mr. Hazaland sustained the contrary but asked for a remand before addressing the Court on the subject. His Honour said he inclined to Mr.

Sharp's view but would grant a remand. Of course the loss of the plaintiff would in any case be a matter of assessment. GREEK FINANCE .- The finance of Greece are rolling down the sharp declivity of monthly loans. The Clovernment (se you are awars) berrowed 1,500,000 drachmas from the National Bank, which could not lend £3,000 to save an English man from un Acarnaman brigand, though the security offered was a good deal better in the case of the small loan than of the large one. This new loan has enabled the Govertment to pay the military and the police to the end of January, and the civilians to the end of December. The new binisters entertain hopes that the Ionian Bank will lend them four millions, and this sum would anable them to face " inturity's impenetrable gloom? until the municipal elections absorb pub-lic feeling; and the Greek 1st of April (13th) arrive, a day which ought to bring them good luck, being under the special protection of the divinity they worship .- (Times)

As the armies of the Federal Government gradually advanced into the tarritories of the South the fetters virtually fell from [41 the limbs of the slave. Slavery itself had been formally abolished as far as proclamations sould abolish it, but the practical operation of the war was to enfranchise immediately all the negroes within reach of the Northern forces. For the "freedmen" who were thus liberated, and for the "refugees," or runnway slaves, who sought an D with wateb-houses before and behind them a vlum within the Federal lines, a species of gen. As the events, however, proceeded, it ! was looked upon with dissatisfaction by two opposite parties. It was naturally obnexious to the people of the South as representing a kind of penal jurisdiction, while, on the other hand, is was condemned by the advanced Republicant of the North as temporary, insulficient, and oir superished in its powers. The Republican party, therefore, introduced into Congress a new bill 2w 752 Hongkong, 17th April, 1866. ing through both Houses, but the President, it
